Tasting Notes: Dark Garnet black color. Bright aromas and flavors of lime candy, nougat, dried lavender and berry Danish with a silky, vibrant, fruity medium body and silky stimulating medium-length finish with suggestions of marinated root vegetable and sandal wood incense with soft tannins and light oak. A lively and appealing red that is a pleasure to sip.

Food Pairings: Pair with Danish bleu or Gorgonzola cheese, red meats and spicy Italian dishes.

Winemakers/ Viticulture Notes: Cabernet Sauvignon grapes emerged from a spontaneous crossing of the red Cabernet Franc and the white Sauvignon Blanc grapes, appearing in Bordeaux some time before the 18th century. Marechal Foch makes a deeply colored wine with earthy characters as well as some jammy, dark-fruit flavors. The grape was bred in France in the 1910s by Eugene Kuhlmann, who crossed Goldriesling and a native American Vitis riparia-rupestris. Chancellor is a hybrid of French-American grapes that produces a young wine full of berry flavors and the scent of fresh herbs.
